

First Aid at Work (FAW)

Course Aim

The Health and Safety (First-Aid) Regulations 1981 require employers to provide adequate and appropriate equipment, facilities and personnel to ensure their employees receive immediate attention if they are injured or taken ill at work.

This 3-day course is our most comprehensive first aid training course.

Students are able to undertake a requalification course, which they should do within 30 days of the certificate expiring.

The course focuses on adult protocols only. Trainers can teach child/infant protocols if required, but the student will not be certified in this.
